WASHINGTON CITY.

U. S. Mints.

Washington, June 19.—R. E. Preston, examiner of mint bureaus, is appointed acting director during the absence of Dr. Linderman at San Francisco, for which place he left to-day.

Steamboat Inspection.

The Treasury Department has issued a circular saying it will exact from steamboat inspectors strict fidelity to the true intent and meaning of the 78th rule and the statute on which it is founded. The duty is enjoined upon inspectors of frequent visits of excursion steamers in order to have personal knowledge that equipments are kept up to original requirements.

Foreign Missions.

Washington, June 18.—Among the candidates for diplomatic appointments is Bret Harte, who would like the Chinese mission. There is no present probability that Seward will be re-called. Gen. Geo. A. Sheridan of Louisiana, has a foreign appointment already provided for him, probably minister to Central America, but it is not expected to be formally announced until October, when he shall be ready to assume its duties.

Caucussing with the President.

Chicago, June 18.—The Journal's Washington special says: It is said that prominent Conservative Democrats and well known Democratic leaders in the South will avail themselves of President Hayes' proposed trip to White Sulphur Springs in July to go there and consult him in regard to Southern matters. The advocates of the Southern Pacific railroad bill will be represented at the White Sulphur Springs in force and will endeavor to convince the President that it is his duty, as part of his Southern policy, to aid by official influence the enterprise.

Cameron's Opinion.

Simon Cameron told a political friend here recently that, in his judgment, Pennsylvania would go Democratic at the next election. Simon is opposed to the Southern policy.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Washington, June 18.—Among recent decisions of the Supreme Court is the following: Wm. F. White and Lucy J. White, plaintiffs in error vs. Nicholas Loningan, error to Circuit Court of the United States for the district of California. This is a case of a mortgagor unable to pay his debt, and getting it satisfied by sale of the mortgaged premises, seeking to prevent his creditors who had doubtless been compelled to purchase property from recovering possession of it on deed of sheriff, and this too when, if there be any ground that no title passed to him by reason of misdescription, was presumably caused by him, as the property was offered for sale in parcels by his direction and for his advantage. As the court does not find that descriptive errors misled any person or caused any sacrifice of property, and as the presumption is that no one was injured by them and that the property brought a full price, obviously, therefore, there are no merits in this defense, and it rests alone on the idea that the sheriff's deeds are to be construed differently from ordinary deeds; inter partes of course. In many respects the rules of construction are different, but this difference does not extend to a description of the property conveyed. In this regard the rules are the same, whether the deed be made by a party in his own right or by an officer of the court. Policy of law does not require courts to scrutinize proceedings of a judicial sale with a view to defeat them. On the contrary, every reasonable intendment will be made in their favor so as to secure, if it can be done consistently with legal rules, the object they were intended to accomplish. Is this deed void for uncertainty of description, or can the property intended to be conveyed, be reasonably located by means of that description? The court below located it by adopting it, except in one instance by calls for courses and distances and rejecting certain calls for known objects as false and repugnant. It is true, as a general rule, that monuments natural or artificial referred to in deeds control on its construction rather than courses and distances, but this rule is not inflexible. It yields whenever taking all particulars of the deed together it would be absurd to apply it. For instance, if rejection of the call for monument would reconcile the other parts of the description and leave enough to identify the land and render certain what the sheriff intended to convey, it would be absurd to retain the false call and thus defeat the conveyance. Greenleaf, in vol. 1, sec. 31, speaking on the subject, in effect says that where the description in a deed is true in part, but not true in every particular, so much of it as is false is rejected, and the instrument will take effect, if sufficient description remains to ascertain its application. Applying this rule to the subject matter of this deed we do not think there is any difficulty in reaching the conclusion that it is sufficiently certain to pass title to the land. The court below found among other things that if courses and distances being field notes of survey are followed from the point of beginning changing east into west in the last course the lines would close embracing tract of land sued for, and would correspond with all other calls and monuments mentioned in the deed except that there would be a departure at nearly right angles from a partition fence at beginning of call N 47½ deg. E 127 chains, and the lines would not extend to or in any manner correspond with the north boundary of Rancho Sol Si Puedes; there are, therefore, three descriptive errors which, if removed from the deed, would harmonize all other particulars in it and leave enough words on description to identify the land in controversy; these errors are noticed here in their order, and in each instance concurs with the court below, the decision of which is affirmed. Justice Davis delivered opinion.

Silver and Fractional Currency.

Washington, June 19.—The following is the full text of the Attorney General's opinion on issuing silver coin in lieu of fractional currency out of circulation:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16, 1877.

Hon. John Sherman, Secretary of the Treasury—Dear Sir: By your letter of the 11th inst. I am informed that the amount of subsidiary silver coin when added to fractional currency which has been issued and not redeemed reaches practically $50,000,000, and you inquire, in substance, whether, under the third section of the joint resolution of July 22, 1876, you are authorized to continue the issue of silver coin in place of fractional currency, heretofore issued which is shown to have been lost or destroyed. I have the honor to reply that by the act of January 4, 1875, the Secretary of the Treasury was authorized to issue subsidiary coin in redemption of fractional currency, until the amount of such fractional currency outstanding should be redeemed. By act of April 17, 1876, he was authorized to issue such silver coin in redemption of an equal amount of fractional currency, whether the same was then in the treasury awaiting redemption, or whenever it might thereafter be presented for redemption. The third section of the joint resolution of July 22, 1876, is as follows: That in addition to the amount of subsidiary coin authorized by law to be issued in redemption of fractional currency it shall be lawful to manufacture at the several mints and issue through the treasury and its several offices such coin to an amount that, including the amount of subsidiary coin and fractional currency outstanding, shall in the aggregate not exceed at any time $50,000,000. It was, in my opinion, intended by this section that money to be used as change should amount to $50,000,000, and when the term outstanding was used in reference to coin and fractional currency heretofore issued it was contemplated that the secretary should ascertain how much of that which had before been issued was still outstanding. It was publicly known that all paper currency was to a considerable extent destroyed by use. This fact having been shown repeatedly in the cases of those banks which have been at various times compelled to redeem bills issued by them. In regard to the issue of fractional currency it was also quite clear that from the number of pieces in use such losses would be proportionately greater than an issue of bills of larger amounts. While it is perhaps not a safe mode of construing an act to refer to debates of the legislature which preceded it, it is important in this connection to observe that this fact in regard to the destruction of paper money by use was well known and understood, and was the subject of discussion in Congress in connection with the bill for which the resolution in question was afterwards substituted. It was proposed in the House of Representatives that in addition to the amount of subsidiary coin authorized by law to be issued in redemption of fractional currency, it should be lawful to manufacture at the several mints and issue through the treasury, in its several offices, a further amount of $20,000,000 and this bill was passed by the House. In discussion upon it, it was contended upon one side this would not more than replace the amount of fractional currency which had been worn out or destroyed and which would never be presented for redemption. Upon the other side, while it was admitted that a considerable portion of such fractional currency had thus been destroyed and it contended that the amount was much less than twenty millions. That a large amount of paper currency is necessarily destroyed by use was fully considered by Congress, in its debate (see Congressional Record). The bill passed by the House was not accepted by the Senate and in place of it a resolution under consideration was passed. When, therefore, the fact was clearly known and understood that a considerable amount of fractional currency had been destroyed and Congress used the phrase "outstanding" instead of phrase "which had been issued and not redeemed" or some similar phrase which would indicate an intention upon its part the amount of fifty million should be determined by amount issued and not by that then actually in existence, it must be held that by the term "outstanding" that currency was intended which still continued to form a portion of the circulating medium and for which the treasury might therefore become liable. I am, therefore of the opinion that the amount of fractional currency outstanding is to be determined not merely by records of the department which show how much has been issued, but also by ascertaining how much of that issue has now been lost or destroyed; so that it can never be presented for redemption. This, of course presents a question of fact for your consideration. If it should be shown that as large amount as $...,000,000 in fractional currency had been destroyed by fire, upon being satisfied of that fact it would be competent for the Secretary of the Treasury to issue a corresponding amount of subsidiary silver coin. To determine how much fractional currency heretofore issued has been lost or destroyed by use is a difficult question, but as suggested is one of fact only. Upon being satisfied as to the amount of fractional currency which has been thus lost or destroyed the Secretary is authorized to issue an equal amount of subsidiary silver coin to replace it; provided the whole amount of subsidiary silver coin and of fractional currency in existence is not to exceed $50,000,000, which it was contemplated by Congress should be in circulation for purposes of change.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, CHAS. DEVENS, Attorney General.

The Administration and Silver.

Chicago, June 19.—The Tribune's special from Washington says: An article which it is claimed has the official sanction of the administration makes this statement: "It ought to be distinctly understood that while the administration don't favor a policy which would give us a depreciated silver currency, they do favor such a policy as will result in the bimetallic standard by the international commission, so that if the double standard is restored, the interests of debtors and creditors, of taxpayers and bondholders may all be equitably protected." The same article favors the ultimate remonetization of silver, but considers it inexpedient just now, and that the double standard cannot be safely restored unless it is done by an international commission such as was proposed first by Senator Jones in April, 1876, in his speech in the Senate on resumption. The other side of the question is thus stated: We are compelled to pay our public debt with one instead of two, as the original contracts permitted. These become so great as to demand a prompt remedy, and that we think can be found in a qualified remonetization of silver, making it a legal tender for all obligations for which greenbacks are now receivable. This is the safe middle way in which the government may go to protect public credit and do justice to the country's business interests."

Issues of Silver.

New York, June 19.—A Times' special from Washington says the Treasury Department having issued nearly thirty-three million dollars in subsidiary silver coins, and thirteen million dollars in fractional currency being ascertained as the amount now outstanding, little more than four million dollars in silver remain to be issued to complete the fifty million dollars authorized by Congress as the maximum amount of silver coins and fractional currency to be outstanding at one time. After the remaining four millions have been issued silver coins will only be issued in exchange for fractional currency presented for redemption.

Redemption of Small Notes.

During the period that the issue of $1 and $2 notes was suspended, one bank at Washington presented $200,000 in these denominations for redemption, and to-day a letter was received from a St. Louis bank asking if bills of larger denominations would be exchanged for ones and twos. The facts show whatever inconvenience has been experienced by the public from scarcity of small notes is due to the hoarding of these notes by banks rather than to the temporary suspension of their issue by the Treasury Department.

Reading Up.

Secretary Evarts calls for a copy of all English literature on the subject of British civil service. He intends, it is inferred, to get all the good points possible from British diplomatic service and to follow their system.

Trouble in a Postoffice.

Washington, June 18.—Some days ago a number of clerks, discharged by the recently appointed postmaster from the postoffice in one of the larger cities of the West, visited Washington to-day to lay their grievances before the postmaster general. They represented that the new postmaster had discharged faithful and efficient clerks themselves and appointed inexperienced and inefficient clerks in their stead, and that the present postmaster was not loyal to the administration. They accordingly asked his discharge. The postmaster general informed them he would lay the case before the President, and having done so replied by letter, in which he says it appears from evidences in the department that the office is well conducted at present, and that the special agent has made a favorable report as to its present organization and management. So the public is not suffering for want of good service. The office is well managed now, so that complaints made are more in the nature of private than public grievances. The postoffice is not a political institution. If it be true, as you state, that the incumbent is opposed to the policy of the administration, he has the right to do so, and it is no cause of removal unless in his zeal and activity he sink postmaster in the politics of any one. Whether he support or oppose the administration, if he neglects his duty by being a busy politician or makes himself obnoxious by reason of inconsiderate and foolish zeal, he ought to be removed, but if he attends to his duties and makes a good and acceptable postmaster he should not be removed though he see fit to oppose the administration. The President finds no sufficient cause for a change in the postoffice.

Too Many Printers.

Public Printer Defrees has issued a circular stating that there are a ready in Washington more capable printers than can be at any time employed, and that it is useless for any persons from other cities to apply for work there.

Will Appoint no more Democrats.

Conversations with the President show that the policy of the administration will not be to appoint any more Democrats to office hereafter, except possibly in a few Southern places where qualified Republicans are not attainable.

Funds from Mecca--Turkey Strikes a Bonanza.

Washington, June 19.—Delapalaine, charge de affairs of the United States at Vienna, says Shiek ul Islam recently sent a delegation of doctors of law to the Cherif of Mecca, a direct descendant of the Prophet, for the purpose of demanding funds from the treasurer of Islam to be applied in defence of Islam faith. This treasure is formed from annual offerings of pilgrims which are accumulated in the Kasbah of Mecca. The Cherif of Mecca receives an average of 15,000,000 francs in annual offerings. One offertory chest was opened during the Russo-Turkish war in 1828, and several large sums were withdrawn, but it was afterwards again closed. A second chest was opened in 1854, during the Crimean war, but the third has not been opened since 1415. It is conjectured the accumulation of money in the last named cannot be less than 250,000,000, and it is fully believed that the total amount of treasure of Islam will exceed 600,000,000 francs, and even a much higher sum.

Miss Overholtzer will read the Declaration at the Pendleton celebration.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

The Turks in a Trap.

London, June 18.—The Montenegrin council a week ago decided not to seriously oppose the reprovisioning of Nicsic in consequence of the great loss inflicted at Kristab, and because the relief of the town has ceased to have any significance, owing to the increased strength of Montenegrin artillery. Should the Turkish army retire Nicsic may be easily stormed. The Turks by advancing into the plain of Nicsic have walked into a trap, perhaps; for should the Montenegrins block Duga Pass, the Turks will be unable to return.

No Mediation Possible.

St. Petersburg, June 18.—Rumors regarding mediation are semi-officially contradicted. No mediation is possible nor has any been proposed.

Servian Neutrality.

Pesth, June 1?.—To avoid ground for intervention of Austria, Servia will maintain armed neutrality. This has not prevented the conclusion of a treaty between Russia and Servia, enabling Russia to transport troops through Servia. Already 7,000 men are marching toward Gladova and Turnseverin.

Passive Roumania.

Bucharest, June 18.—The Czar has ordered Prince Milan to maintain a passive attitude; intimating that Servia's self denial will be reckoned for her good, and that her claims will not be overlooked when the day of settlement arrives.

Damaged Biscuits.

Constantinople, June 18.—The Arabic journal El Jarrail having published an article attacking the Turkish government for despatch of 200,000 kilogrammes of damaged biscuits to Trebizond, the chamber of deputies demanded explanation from Redif Pasha, minister of war, who, however, declined to explain.

Turkish Gunboats.

Syre, June 18.—Four Turkish ironclads passed this port to-day, steering south. Two Turkish corvettes anchored in Suday Bay, Crete, this morning.

Offensive Publications.

Constantinople, June 18.—The Turkish authorities in Bulgaria have seized copies of the proclamation issued by the Bulgarian committee, inciting the inhabitants to rise in aid of the Russians.

The principal offense for which the editors of the Selamet and Mussavat were exiled, was that they urged in their columns the dismissal of Redif Pasha from the ministry of war. Several other arrests are ordered.

What the Turks Hope.

The Turkish headquarters hope to be able to assume energetic offensive measures in the event of the Russians succeeding in crossing the Danube.

Turkish Chamber Dissolved.

London, June 19.—A Constantinople dispatch announces the Turkish Chamber of Deputies has been dissolved.

Carrying Contraband News.

Berlin, June 18.—A correspondent telegraphs that the German press comments upon a letter inspired in Vienna. A semi official political correspondent insinuates that Captain Wellesly, a British attache and suite, supply the Turks with military intelligence from Russian camps. There seems to be no doubt that the Russians, fancying themselves betrayed, are remodeling their ordre di bataille on the Danube, while the Turkish war office insists upon making the defense of the Balkans the decisive stage of the war.

The Leaders Differ.

Edinburgh, June 19.—The Scotsman's London correspondent writes that Earl Derby and the Marquis of Salisbury hold very opposite views on Russian occupation of Constantinople. Salisbury believes that Gortschakoff will not advise that the city be held for a long time. Derby would at once inform Russia that she will only march there at the risk of meeting British as well as Turkish troops. The writer adds: "I am informed that whatever may be the truth about the reported dissension, the Cabinet has given certain military precautions. A large army corps is ready for immediate service and transports can be obtained."

The Indian Mussulmans.

Calcutta, June 19.—Although Indian Mussulmans have hitherto shown few signs of interest in the war, it is certain proclamations are in circulation which include prayer only used when Islam is threatened with dire calamity, and calling for help from all true believers.

Austria's Attitude.

Chicago, June 9.—The Tribune's London special says the attitude of Austria is getting more and more hostile to Russia. Starting out with friendly feelings, and expecting to share in the territorial distribution when Turkey should be dismembered, she has since been drawn to the opposite standpoint by internal influence and outside pressure. The alliance of Russia with Germany is one cause of the dissatisfaction. Recently overtures were made to England for an offensive and defensive alliance. Prince Milan's visit to the Czar was in opposition to the expressed desire of Austria.

Rough on Correspondents.

A European telegram says several correspondents have been shot as spies. This is because seven Russians and English have been found in the Turk sh camp.

Basai Bazouks have insulted several English and American correspondents.

Insulting the French Flag.

The Herald correspondent at Batoum telegraphs that the Turks yesterday fired on a French vessel which was trying to enter that port. The consul has demanded an explanation and apology for the insult to the flag.

Preparing to Cross.

Vienna, June 19.—In a few days a manifesto will be issued by the Czar on the occasion of crossing the Danube, for which preparations on a grand scale are now making. The Turks are sending reinforcements to the mouth of the Timok, evidently expecting that the Russian design is to enter Servia at Gladivo.

Greece and the War.

Athens, June 19.—In to-day's sitting of the Chamber of Deputies the minister of justice stated that the policy of the government was to expedite military preparations, as Greece might sooner or later become involved in the present war.

The Danube Still High.

The Danube is higher at Galatz now than previously this season, partly owing to recent inundations, and the condition of the Reni road is very precarious. The date is not yet fixed fixed for the departure of the General and staff from Ploiesti.

Torpedoes Laid.

The British consul at Smyrna announces that electric torpedoes have been laid in the entrance of the bay.

The Russian Sick List.

In no brigade of the Russian troops collected to the south and west of Bucharest do the sick exceed three per cent, and even of these ailments, none are serious nor of an epidemic character. These facts are derived from inspection and medical returns. There are exaggerated reports from the fact that all the sick in ambulances and field hospitals whose recovery is likely to take time, have been removed into reserve hospitals at Bucharest and other places behind the Danube line so as to make room for cases which the commencement of fighting will inevitably cause, and this has caused an unusual number of ambulance wagons to be seen in Bucharest.

A Path of Destruction.

London, June 1?.—The Daily News has a Rotschuk dispatch which says if letters can be believed which have been received here by notabilities, ostensibly belonging to the most loyal class of the Sultan's subjects, outrages are proceeding unchecked in the province of Tultcha. The Servians are outlawed by the authorities and abandoned to the Tartars and Circassians. Villages and farms are wantonly sacked and burned with a view of rendering the country a desert before the advance of the Russians. Ghastly sights are seen every day, reared by bloody-handed murderers in Tultcha, Natchin, Babbdogk and Kersa Erzeoun. Flames of some burning village are visible every night.

Turks Falling Back.

Vienna, June 19.—The Turks with 18 battalions, 12 field and 42 mountain guns have fallen back from Ishagirba to a very good position two miles west of Zerwin on the plateau with out post at Yerkeni and Mezingerd. The right wing of the 14th battalion, with 12 field and 4 mountain guns is falling back from Delibaba. The wing of eight battalions and six mountain guns has entered from Olti to Hirgibasz. Kuperker is held by three battalions who have thrown up earthworks to cover the bridge over the river Araxes. Four battalions are preparing an entrenchment at Bovidozen.

General War Notes.

The Governor of Syria has been dismissed. A number of charges are preferred against him.

The U. S. steamer Dispatch has arrived at Smyrna.

Baring, secretary of the British legation leaves for London Wednesday.

The Egyptian troops left for Varna. Prince Hassan visited the Sultan Sunday. He will rejoin his troops Thursday.

Dispatches from various divisions in Montenegro continue satisfactory.

The body of Christian volunteers armed with Winchester rifles are about to leave for the seat of war.

Dervish Pasha goes to Batoum to-day.

The Turkish government is expected to demand the chamber of deputies to vote on the proposal to issue an internal loan of 5,000,000 Turkish pounds.

Ristics, Servian agent, gave explanations to the Porte to-day respecting the visit of Prince Milan to the Czar. He repeated that it was solely intended as an act of courtesy. Ristics denied that the Servian government followed a war policy, and contradicted the report that works were proceeding at Alexinatz. The object of Servia in the late war was to gain extension of territory in Herzegovina as far as the Narenta river, but never to establish Servian independence. The sovereignty of the Porte was the guarantee for advancement of Servia and unity of race, whereas Servian independence would fall under the domination of Russia or Austria.

Turtuckia, June 18.—From 7 o'clock in the evening until midnight Sunday, large bodies of Russian troops of all arms were marching from Giurgevo to Galbosia, opposite his place.

Constantinople, June 18.—It is said two Russian frigates have appeared off Cape Matapan. It is believed Hobart Pasha will leave for the Mediterranean.

The editors and compositors of two Turkish newspapers, the Selamet and Mussavat, have been exiled and publication suspended.

Vienna, June 19.—A correspondent says on Prince Milan's return to Belgrade the skuptchina will hold a secret session to consider the convention to allow the passage of Russian troops through Servia.

The Russians have advanced to Olti, Isbazumbaba and Toprak Kaleh.

The conduct of Ismail Pasha, Governor of Erzeroum, is severely criticised by military authorities. Great discontent exists.

EX-PRESIDENT GRANT IN ENGLAND.

London, June 19.—A reform club gave a dinner last night in honor of General Grant. Among American guests were consul general Badeau and the United States minister to Russia. Mr. Pierrepont was unable to attend. Lord Derby, to whom an invitation was sent in order to show that the gathering was not a party one, replied, expressing regret that previous engagements prevented him from accepting. Earl Granville occupied the chair and Right Honorable W. E. Forster was vice chairman. Among eminent persons present were Richard Baxter, chairman of the general commission, Mr. Adams the liberal, Sir Chas. Dilke, W. E. Baxter, Mr. Latham, Mr. Holmes, Mr. Luddell, and many other members of parliament. Tom Taylor was the principal non-political celebrity present. Four toasts were drunk. The Queen was proposed by the chairman. The President and people of the United States was proposed in cordial terms by Mr. Forster, who said that in praising the American people he felt he was praising his own countrymen. To this the United States minister to Russia responded, concluding with the sentiment, which was heartily responded to, of liberal men and liberal measures. Earl Granville then proposed General Grant's health. He recalled the changes which a century had wrought in the relations of the two kindred countries. Grant expressed intense satisfaction at the cordial greeting he received, which he said was typical of the reception he has enjoyed since his arrival in this country. The health of the chairman was proposed by Mr. Fraser Roe, who intimated that John Bright and Charles Villiers, though prevented from being present, were in cordial sympathy with the entertainment.

Grant's Gratitude.

New York, June 19.—Grant said in a recent meeting: I am overwhelmed with the kindness shown by Englishmen to me and expressed to America. I regret that I am unable adequately to express my thanks for the manifold fraternal courtesies I have received. Words would fail, especially with the limitations of a public speech, to express my feelings in this regard. I hope when opportunity is offered me of calmer and deliberate moments to put on record my grateful recognition of the fraternal sentiments of the English people and the desire of America to render adequate respect. The speech of Earl Granville has inspired thoughts in my bosom which it is impossible adequately to present. Never have I felt so much as now my poverty in phrases to give due expression to my affection for the mother country. Grant's hand shook under pressure of unusual feeling and he continued with unusual eloquence to express the hope that his words, so far as they had any value, would be heard in both countries, and lead to the union of English speaking people and the fraternity of the human race.

Grant's speech was frequently interrupted with applause. Indeed the cheering was almost continuous while he was on his feet. On resuming his seat the health of the ex-President was drank amidst tumultuous applause. To-morrow Grant dines with the Prince of Wales at Marlborough House, and at midnight pays a visit to the office of the London Times.

The Trouble at Oka.

Montreal, June 18.—Col. Amyot of the provincial police says it is not his intention to make any arrests if Chief Joseph of the Oka Indians will consent to an interview on points at issue. Chief Joseph and about 50 Indians are armed and in the bush outside of the village of Oka. Col. Amyot says the object of his visit is to protect French Canadians including priests and nuns from being attacked by Protestant Indians, who are under arms, but the latter are of the opinion this is a mere pretext to get them within their grasp. It is reported to-day that the police have ordered all newspaper reporters to leave Oka.

The Fishing Commission.

Montreal, June 19.—At the first meeting of the fishery commission Americans again resisted ineffectually the admission of counsel to the sittings. The procedure of the court was agreed on with the exception of the question of ex parte affidavits, which was objected to on the part of Great Britain. This point was settled by admitting affidavits quantum valeat. The British case was then filed. It consists of a voluminous history of the fishing difficulties since the American revolution, and claims $12,000,000 damages on part of the Dominion and $2,800,000 for New Foundland for twelve years, six of which have elapsed.

By the Mount Carmel, (Ill.), cyclone, a little boy coming from school was lifted above the houses and landed unhurt at his house, half a mile south. He said he passed over the church steeple as it went the other way.

A SARATOGA SENSATION.

A Prominent Banker Refused Admission to the Grand Union Hotel.

New York, June 19.—The Times says new rules have been adopted by the Grand Union hotel at Saratoga, whereby no Israelites are to be admitted. The well known banker, Jos. Seligman, was sent away on Wednesday, having spent the summers there for ten years. The proprietor said, in explanation, that business at the hotel was not good last season and we had a large number of Jews here. Hilton came to the conclusion that the Christians did not like their company, and for that reason shunned the hotel. He resolved to run the Union on a different principle this season, and gave us instructions to admit no Jew. Yesterday an informal meeting of Seligman's friends and acquaintances was held to consider what action is desirable under the circumstances. Edward Lauterback, counsel to the banker, occupied the chair. A mass meeting is to be called at an early day.

Judge Hilton says in defense that Seligman is not a Hebrew; he is a Jew in the trade sense of the word and the class of Jews he represents; while they are not forbidden to come to the Grand Union they are not encouraged to come. The proprietors have good reasons for this discrimination. The great secret of Seligman's present public hostile attitude, Judge Hilton finds it easy to account for. The house of A. T. Stewart formerly did a great deal of its foreign banking business through Seligman's firm, and nearly all of their foreign bills of exchange were purchased there, but finding good and sufficient reason for discontinuing its patronage it transferred it to other houses. Ever since this, Seligman has been spoiling for a fight with Stewart & Co.

The Times in an interview with Hilton says Seligman was not ejected from the Grand Union hotel, Saratoga. He had been boarding at the Clarendon and Judge Hilton says he came over when the Grand Union was opened and in an ostentatious manner demanded the best apartments; that Messrs. Clair & Wilkinson, the managers, had been instructed to carefully discriminate as to their guests, and Seligman fell under this discrimination. Hilton does not consider Seligman an orthodox Hebrew, but claims that he belongs to the Adler liberals. Hilton, however, denies that there was any objection to Seligman because of his religious faith. He cites the fact that his house of A. T. Stewart & Co's employs many Hebrews and purchases twice as much from Hebrews' houses as the latter purchases from them, as evidence that they were not guilty of such unmercantile folly; but the idea of the Grand Union Hotel was to make it a family house, where men could leave their families during their absence with perfect security and satisfaction. The wishes and prejudices of the only class of people who can or will support a hotel like this must, Hilton said, be consulted and followed. The hotel is run for them and not for those they dislike. Seligman, Hilton said, belongs to a class, not Hebrews, but Jews with whom this class of guests, especially the female portion of them, will not associate, and whom they do not wish to be forced to meet, even under the etiquette of the dining room and parlor of a public hotel. The hotel managers only do their duty by excluding these disagreeable people from their hotels. It is the fault, continued Hilton, of this class of Jews themselves that they are discriminated against. Families like the Hendricks and Nathans are welcome everywhere, while those Jews, not Hebrews, of whom Joseph Seligman is a representative, are not wanted any more at the first class summer hotels. They have brought the public opinion down on themselves by a vulgar ostentation, puffed up vanity, an overweening display of condition, a lack of those considerate civilities so much appreciated by good American society, and a general obtrusiveness that is frequently disgusting and always repulsive to the well bred.

Judge Hilton asserted that these notorious characters had a most ruined ... Branch hotels, into which they had been admitted, and said that hotel men all over the country were awakening to it so much that a man of this type will soon find no admittance, at all such hotels at the Buckingham, the Windsor, those at Sharon Springs, Saratoga and elsewhere, and that even now, it was a severe tax upon the judgment of the proprietors of these places to admit them. As might be expected this affair has aroused quite a storm of discussion, marked by considerable division of opinion among both Christians and Hebrews, but there will be none among the latter if they should become satisfied that Hilton's purpose was to reflect upon a religious faith. Already there is also an undercurrent stir in the Christian world here which bids fair to lead to a liberal public demonstration by eminent Christian clergymen against anything like proscription.

The Dover Tunnel.

London, June 18.—Engineers who made geological explorations and soundings for a submarine tunnel between France and England, report that a tunnel is perfectly practicable, as there is a continuous bed of chalk between the two shores.

French Senator Dead.

Paris, June 18.—Pierre Joseph LeFrance, Republican Senator, is dead.

Reply to Gambetta.

Versailles, June 19.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day Duc de Cases, foreign minister, declared, in reply to Gambetta, who had wished to reassure Italy regarding the intentions of the government since France had fallen into suspected hands, that the views of the French government were well known in Rome and fully appreciated. He, De Cases, had pointed out to the French ambassador to Italy the twofold character of the acts of May 16th, expressing the hope that time would dissipate any prejudices. He said France intends to pursue a cordial and pacific policy. All parties wished for peace. The powers were quite unaware of any change in the foreign policy of France, which would remain pacific and steadfast. The Duke then spoke of the good relations between France and other countries, and left the tribune amid great applause.

French Finances.

The latest Paris dispatches to-day quoted 5 per cent. rentes, for account of 105 francs, 5? buying, for Paris account, is looked upon with suspicion here. The impression has been that speculative cliques on the continent are forcing prices up, come what may.

MacMahon Threatens.

A special from Versailles has the following: Jules Ferry replying to the argument of the government that the President is bound to have a policy of his own; pointed out that the constitution provides for the trial of the President if he commits high treason.

Bonds.

London, June 15.—Consols, 94½; new 5's, 107½.

Olympia Courier: A man and a woman, who claim to be joined in lawful wedlock, now breathe the confined air of the Thurston county jail, being there detained on bonds of $1,000 on a charge of bigamy and other offenses. A man in Kalama made charges in the justice's court, at Tenino a day or two ago, that the said woman was his wife, and that the marriage to No. 2 was bigamous. The woman denies the impeachment and disowns No. 1, but the latter had such a telling manner with him that the justice leaned to his side of the story and sent the accused parties to the jug in default of bail.

President Hayes repels the idea of appointing any more Democrats to office. He has appointed very few, and none at all in the Northern States. In fact the "patronage" is still managed by Senators very much as it used to be. But the country is cheered with another deliverance of words from the administration in favor of civil service reform.

The Mysterious Rock.

San Francisco, June 19.—In connection with the recent loss of the Pacific Mail steamer City of San Francisco, a gentleman who arrived in this city on the steamer China, from Panama, on the last trip but one, which was shortly before the loss of the City of San Francisco, states that on the night before reaching Acapulco, about midnight, a number of passengers were roused by a sensation as if the ship had lightly struck or grazed some obstruction to her course. The shock was slight, and on inquiry of the officers next morning, they attributed it to some accident to the steering gear, by which the helmsman temporarily lost control of the ship. A Mexican gentleman, formerly in command of a Mexican gunboat on the coast, under the Lerdo administration, and who was on board the China at the time, expresses the opinion that the obstacle she touched was the same rock on which the City of San Francisco struck, holding that the position of the steamer at the time must have been in that immediate vicinity.

Los Banos, June 19.—A French lady named Mrs. Arrees and her two children, were murdered at Los Banos Creek last night. Mr. Arrees was away from home with sheep. The murderer is a Frenchman supposed to be insane.

The De Young Suits.

Placerville, June 19.—To-day the county court opened and the case of The People vs. De Young was called. Chas. De Young was present with his counsel, Alex. Campbell, Jr. The defense demurred to the indictment on the ground that Attorney Carpenter was allowed to appear before the grand jury. The court overruled it, as Carpenter was deputy district attorney. The defense then demanded the right to examine the grand jurors, on the ground that it was not a fair and impartial body. This has been allowed, and the grand jurors summoned for examination. The defense is fighting hard to postpone matters. Adjourned to 1:30.

OREGON.

Island City is fast becoming one of the most important business points in Union county.

They tell of a schoolma'am in Umatilla county who spends her Sundays sitting on a fence whittling pine sticks.

J. M. Despain, aged 19, sheared 105 sheep the other day in eight hours. All were large sized and bore heavy fleeces.

O. P. Goodall, of Union county, is fast establishing a reputation for rearing blooded horses, cattle, sheep and hogs. He has some animals as fine as can be found anywhere.

The story told by the Mountain Sentinel, that the body of a man with his throat cut was found tied to a tree in the Blue Mountains, is now regarded as a hoax. The East Oregonian says it is evidently sensational.

Movements are now on foot in Umatilla and Grant counties to open a road from Pendleton via Starkey's ranch, on Grand Ronde river, to Independence, Grant county, to intersect the road leading from Baker to Canyon City.

The Summerville and Weston Wagon Road Co. have levied an assessment of five per cent. of the entire capital stock of the company, which is $21,000, payable immediately, which is to be expended at once on the road in building and improving.

Salem Record: When our State debt is paid the State levy of 7 mills will be reduced to 4, and if we can get rid of the enormous robbery connected with the State printing and the keeping of the insane, and cut off the smaller useless expenditures, 4 mills can easily be reduced to 2½ mills.

The East Oregonian urges the project of a narrow-gauge railroad from the Columbia river to Grand Ronde valley. It says: A company of enterprising, energetic men has already been formed, who will undertake to aggregate individual resources and commence the great work. At the present time efforts are being made to negotiate with the O. S. N. Co. to lay the iron and furnish the rolling stock.

The Salem Mercury complains of a verdict of not guilty in the case of the State vs Lo. Marshall, indicted for keeping a bawdy house at that place. It says: Every witness called knows that the house kept by the woman Marshall has the reputation of being a bawdy house of notoriously bad repute and the code says that "common fame shall be competent evidence in support of the indictment." No need for any prostitute in this district to have a bad reputation hereafter; the law on this subject is a dead letter, and these women are to be allowed to flaunt their shame before the world without fear of punishment.

Akron (Ohio) Beacon: Stanley Matthews was sent to the Senate as one of the reformers par excellence. How does it come then that he is dispensing Federal offices to members of the legislature who voted for him?

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1877.

THE INDIAN UPRISING.

Though the scene of the Indian difficulties in Idaho Territory is beyond the furthest boundaries of Oregon and as distant from Portland as Pittsburg is from New York or Omaha from Chicago, yet an erroneous impression is likely to go abroad as to the locality of the outbreak. Dispatches that carry information to the East are passing through Oregon, and this fact itself may suggest to readers at a distance who have no accurate knowledge of the great extent of our country and its geographical features, that it is an Oregon Indian war. Emigration to Northern Idaho and the portion of Eastern Washington bordering on it is likely to be checked for the present by this unfortunate occurrence, and some of the new settlements may be broken up for the present summer. But though Oregon is not the direct sufferer by this outbreak, the people of our State have the strongest and most sympathetic interest in the section of country subject to these hostilities, and in the people who are exposed to the horrors of the savage attack. As yet it is useless to speculate on the probable extent of the outbreak. In case it shall prove to be limited to those bands known already to be engaged, the contest ought not to be a long one. It is unfortunate that more troops are not at the disposal of the department commander. If he had a few additional companies they could be so distributed and stationed as to hold in check various bands which may be disposed shortly to join those already engaged. There are arms at Vancouver which will be sent forward immediately, so that citizens of Lewiston may be provided with means of defense; the ordnance officers, as we learn, being disposed to take this responsibility in view of the urgency of the situation.

All troops north of the Columbia river, except the company at Colville, will go forward at once to the scene of action. By the beginning of next week there will be 475 men on the ground. A cavalry company has also been ordered up from Klamath, and the cavalry of the Department of California has been placed under the orders of General Howard. Of course these troops cannot arrive for some time yet. But assurance may be felt that everything that can be done with the forces at the disposal of the commander of this department will be effected. There is reason to hope that by the time we get further advices the first panic, which in such cases is always extreme, will have subsided somewhat. A belief is strongly entertained at headquarters here that the report of the disaster to Perry's command is greatly exaggerated.

A NEW POSITION.

Laying down a policy for its party the San Francisco Examiner employs these brave words:

From the Democratic party no section need hope to obtain aid from the public treasury for the promotion of local and sectional interests. The Democracy is unalterably opposed to any appropriation or subsidy, no matter how plausible the pretext upon which it may be sought.

In support of these assertions the spirit of Jackson is invoked in opposition to all schemes of internal improvement to be carried on by the general government. From other organs of the Democratic party like voices occasionally are heard. Such expressions are, however, in most remarkable conflict with the actual position occupied by the party. The seat of Democratic strength is in the Southern States. Nearly every member of Congress in both branches from that section is an adherent of this party. And every one is an earnest advocate of a grand system of subsidies for the South. To carry it through, the political strength of that section is considered the main reliance. Even the memory of Gen. Jackson is dead. That the schemes are wholly sectional is proven by the fact that they ignore the wants of the North and the Northwest altogether. In this purpose the Democrats of the South are united; and they are likely to carry with them their political brethren of the North, on the ground that the system is necessary for conciliation and future success. Voices in opposition are those of persons who have been left behind in the old camps, while their party has moved to a new position. Their party once, indeed, opposed subsidies, but it does not now.

NEW VIEWS.

In this original style the Walla Walla Watchman discusses the problem of transportation for the upper Columbia region:

Our hope, however, is not altogether anchored in the opening out of the great Columbia river. Indeed, we greatly doubt whether it ever will be opened any more than it is now, and has been for centuries past. During the winter we petition, in spring we pray, in summer we don't care, and when autumn comes then it is too late to do anything. Such will be the tune, with perhaps slight variations, for ages to come. Some may deem us skeptic; others even may go further than that, but such is our candid opinion. We firmly believe that those who have it in their power to aid us in the enterprise, never really mean to see it accomplished. What must we do, then, to be saved? is the next enigma. First, we must make the very best out of our present shipping facilities. Lose no more in kicking against our valley railroad or the O. S. N. Co., for suppose for one moment, that these wealthy and enterprising corporations should take a notion to kick back, where would we be? Moreover, they seem to be deeply interested in our welfare, and have greatly ameliorated the condition of our farmers and business men. These, gentlemen, are facts. Secondly. We must quit for awhile in directing our whole attention to the Columbia river and agitate the Walla Walla & Seattle Railroad. Not one man out of ten has an idea of the wondrous changes such a road would make throughout the Territory.

A SOUND OBJECTION.

It has been stated that M'Lellan, the Scotchman, butchered by the mob in Kemper county, Miss., always refused to be naturalized and become a citizen of the United States, "because the government was not strong enough to protect its citizens." Redfield, the well known correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, thus refers to it:

Surely the old Scotchman's objection to becoming a citizen of the United States was well taken. The graves of the Chisholm family is a monument to the fact that this government does not protect its citizens or attempt to punish murderers. It is a month now since the slaughter, and nothing is done about it. The local authorities will not do anything, and the general government cannot—it is contrary to the constitution, you know. Can we wonder that M'Lellan objected to becoming a citizen of a government which neither protects its citizens when alive nor punishes their murderers when dead?

According to the New York Tribune estimate, Russia has at least 324,000 in Roumania ready for the invasion of Bulgaria. Turkey has, in round numbers, 200,000 soldiers distributed from Varna to Widdin. The great disproportion in numbers, not to say in efficiency and organization, which these figures show, accounts in part for the gloomy forebodings expressed in Europe regarding the fate of the Ottoman Empire.

The Sentinel calls for a mail route from Lewiston to Union.

OUR ABSURD INDIAN POLICY.

In dealing with Indians theory is not good. There are two extremes. One of them outrages humanity by proposing the extermination of the Indian races, and the other revolts common sense and universal experience by hoping and trying to subdue their savage natures and introduce them to industrious and peaceful ways of life. We can't kill them as we do the coyotes of the plains nor make civilized beings out of them; and the only thing we can do is to worry along with them and wait for time to diminish their numbers till they are no longer formidable, or till they are gone altogether. We are wedded to our theory of dealing with them and can't change it. Most of our trouble grows out of our habit of humoring them with a will of their own.

Sometimes we act with rigor and vigor,—when we are forced to it. Then the exigency passes, we go to the opposite extreme and take away proper restraint. A foolish notion prevails that the Indian must be dealt with as a full grown man of moral stature, responsible for his action on moral grounds, instead of being treated like a child as he is. He is alternately caressed and punished, spoiled and exterminated. Thus we act consistently on neither one principle nor the other, but on a feeble muddle of both. On our part we pay dearly for it with money and blood, and on his part the Indian sinks rapidly toward extinction. Trying to govern him on moral grounds and to teach him salvation, we abate the rigor of discipline and the sound doctrine of coercion. The only restraint, a wholesome regard for power, which can really hold him, is removed; he finds grievances as children always do, takes them into his own hands and seeks cruel and vengeful redress after the manner of savage men in all ages, and then it becomes necessary to kill him. Our policy thus alternates between the use of the psalm-book and the breech-loader. But experience goes to show that there is decidedly more civilizing power in the last than in the first.

When we ought to hold a firm hand over him, we relax it and fall back on moral suasion and on the doctrines of the gospel. These last presuppose some development of man's moral nature; but with the Indian there is no ground, or extremely limited ground, whereon to lodge such an appeal. Consequently an argument should always be before him which he can understand, and that is the argument of force. Reason is not as yet his prerogative, and he ought to be managed so as to withhold from him temptation and opportunity for outbreak. For years government has been dallying with the Indians now in arms, and really working them up to the point of making resistance. A determination, vigorously enforced, to bring them on the reservation years ago, without consulting their pleasure about it, would have forestalled the present difficulty. But government, pursuing a namby-pamby policy, has been trying to treat with them, instead of laying down at first the law which it is obliged to enforce at last.

Thus we have these uprisings and massacres, and shall have them so long as there remain scattering bands of savages to assert their claim to portions of territory on which civilized life constantly encroaches. Between the Indians and total extermination there is but a single barrier, and that may prove a temporary one. It is the protection guaranteed by reservations. They can hold no territory not thus secured, for the whites who want homes will not respect a claim to land which has no foundation in occupancy or actual use; nor ought they. Had government brought these bands to the reservation long ago, instead of trifling with them by negotiation, they would have a chance for preservation. But now they will probably be annihilated.

For the gentlemen who have so long managed Portland's police affairs the world is not a cave of gloom, after all. At first the effect was rather depressing, but now they are thinking it is only about a year till the legislature will meet, and if that body be friendly, an amendment of the city charter may be secured, which will render things normal again.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 2[illegible]

CITY.

CANDIDATES SERENADED.—Last evening a large number of the friends of the successful candidates visited them at their residences, accompanied by a band. Mr. W. S. Newbury, the newly elected Mayor, was first visited. After an enlivening air at his residence, Mr. Newbury appeared on the band, and was introduced to the assemblage by Mayor Chapman. He proceeded to thank the people of Portland for their confidence they had in electing him to the mayoralty of the city. He should endeavor to discharge the duties of his office in a manner conducive to the best interests of the people of the city, and indulged in the hope that they should never have occasion to regret his elevation to the position. Thanking his friends for the honor they had conferred upon him, Mr. Newbury retired. After Mr. Newbury's remarks, J. F. Caples addressed the crowd for a few minutes in his characteristic style. An air by the band, when three hearty cheers were given for the new mayor, and the crowd retired. The crowd next proceeded to the residence of G. W. Yocum, Esq., the newly elected councilman from the Third ward. That gentleman was called out and made a brief address, in which he thanked his friends and promised to serve to the best of his ability as a representative in the council from the ward in which he had been chosen. Mr. R. R. Riley, the new commissioner, was next called upon. He did not respond, but Mr. Geo. P. Riley, the well known colored orator, came forward and thanked the crowd in behalf of his friend. After visiting a number of other places the band called at the OREGONIAN office at a late hour, and gave us a serenade.

NEW PARK.—The Salem Record says: The Oregon and California Railroad Company purchased last week forty acres of land on a sightly bluff just north of New Era, and will proceed immediately to lay out a spacious park, with all the modern improvements for the accommodation of excursions and out-door gatherings. The view from the bluff is grand, and overlooks the beautiful Willamette where it enters the deep channels either side of Rock Island. Mr. R. Koehler, the president of the company, and the energetic managing director has taken the matter in hand and will make it the loveliest place on the road.

EXAMINATIONS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—To-day examinations will be held in the public schools in the following order: High School, 9 to 12 A. M., Geometry; 1 to 4 P. M., Physical Geography; 1 to 4 P. M., Arithmetic, class A; 1 to 2:30 P. M., Latin Reader, class B. Admission to the High School: 9 to 12 A. M., Arithmetic. Grammar Schools—9 to 12 A. M., Mental Arithmetic, class B, grades 1st, 2d and 3d. Primary Schools—Class A, grade 4, Harrison Street School; class B, grade 5, same school; miscellaneous, class B, grade 4, Mental Arithmetic.

BOAT UPSET.—As the steamer Dixie Thompson was coming up to-day two men in a small boat from Hulitt's fishery hailed her to deliver some salmon on board. The speed of the steamer was slackened, and the small boat instead of coming alongside as usual in such cases, got directly across the bow of the steamer and was upset in a twinkling. After some lively excitement the men were picked up and their boat caught and restored to them with some sound advice by the mate as to the best method of boarding a steamer.

COURTESIES APPRECIATED.—Through inadvertence we omitted to acknowledge the courtesy extended the OREGONIAN by the Oregon Steam Navigation Company in furnishing a very full and complete account of the Indian massacre at Cottonwood creek and vicinity which appeared in yesterday's issue. The officers of that company are courteous and obliging gentlemen, and they may rest assured that such favors are fully appreciated.

AN OREGON BOY.—The Telegram says: We learn with pleasure that one of the paintings of our Oregon boy, Thaddeus Welsh, has been purchased by the Academy of Munich. The compliment is one of the highest that could be paid an American artist, and our State may justly feel proud of this recognition of his talent. He is still pursuing his studies in Europe, and will no doubt make his mark among the scholars of the old country.

RECEPTION.—Rev. T. L. Eliot, who for a number of years so acceptably filled the pastorate of the First Unitarian Church, of this city, will be tendered a reception this (Wednesday) evening at the church by the members of the Society and his numerous friends. Mr. Eliot returned from an extended tour of the continent on the last steamer. We are gratified to state that he has greatly improved in health and spirits.

STORE BURGLARIZED.—The grocery store of Meyer Mish, on Washington street between Fifth and Sixth, was broken into some time during last night. The front door was securely fastened, and no difficulty was experienced in effecting an entrance. The money drawer was rifled of about $16 in coin, which is all that has thus far been missed.

W. B. ASSOCIATION.—The Willamette [illegible] Association will be held at Oregon [illegible] on the 22d, 23d and 24th of June. The railroad companies have very kindly consented to carry delegates for half fare. Delegates will pay full fare coming but will receive free return tickets.

OFF FOR ASTORIA.—The Jeannie Winston English Opera Company leave this morning for Astoria, where they play three nights. During their sojourn here and elsewhere they have made for themselves a reputation which any company should feel proud of. Success attend them.

FOURTH OF JULY.—The Hibernian Society have decided to have a parade and a grand glorious time on the Fourth of July. The programme is published elsewhere. The society usually make a success of anything they undertake.

FALL WHEAT.—Mr. A. J. McEwan has placed on our table a few stalks of oats grown on his lot in East Portland, from seeds sown in January. The hight of the stalks is 6 feet; length of head 15 inches.

ORDERED TO REPORT.—Col. Alfred Sully, of the 21st Infantry, has been ordered to proceed without delay to Lapwai and report in person to the department commander.

...WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1877.

CITY.

SERENADED.—Last evening a large number of the friends of the successful candidates visited them at their residences, accompanied by a band. Mr. W. S. Newbury, the newly elected Mayor, was first visited at his residence. After an enlivening air by the band Mr. Newbury appeared on the front porch and was introduced to the assembled crowd by Mayor Chapman. He proceeded to thank the people of Portland for their confidence they had in electing him to the mayoralty of the city. He should endeavor to discharge the duties of his office in a manner conducive to the best interests of the whole people of the city, and indulged in the hope that they should never have occasion to regret his elevation to the position. Thanking his friends for the honor they had conferred upon him, Mr. Newbury retired. After Mr. Newbury's remarks, Hon. J. F. Caples addressed the crowd for a few minutes in his characteristic style. Another air by the band, when three hearty cheers were given for the new mayor, and the crowd next proceeded to the residence of G. W. Yocum, Esq., the newly elected councilman from the Third ward. Mr. Yocum was called out and made a happy speech in which he thanked his friends for electing him to serve to the best of his humble ability as a representative in the common council from the ward in which he had been elected. Mr. R. R. Riley, the new police commissioner, was next called upon. Mr. R. R. Riley responded, but Mr. Geo. P. Riley, the well known colored orator, came forward and addressed the crowd in behalf of his friend. After visiting a number of other places, the band stopped at the OREGONIAN office at a late hour and gave us a serenade.

PERSONAL.

Our much esteemed fellow townsman, W. S. Ladd, who for some time has been sojourning at Hot Springs, Arkansas, for the benefit of his health, has recently returned to New Hampshire.

Mr. Frank T. Dodge, the efficient and gentlemanly agent of the Willamette Transportation and Locks Company, will depart to-day on the outgoing steamer for his old home in Georgetown, District of Columbia. Mr. Dodge has not visited the "old folks at home" for a period of 12 years. He will be absent about two months.

We acknowledge a pleasant call yesterday from Mrs. Virginia Beecroft, who arrived in this city on the last steamer from San Francisco. Mrs. Beecroft is a literary writer of considerable reputation on the Pacific coast. She has been the San Francisco art correspondent of the Record-Union for several years, and by her graceful and sprightly pen has contributed greatly to the interest of that excellent journal. Formerly she was a regular contributor to the columns of the Golden Era, when that journal was at the hight of its popularity. Mrs. Beecroft's nom de plume is "Vierge." She is on a tour of the State both of pleasure and observation. To-day, in company with several other ladies, Mrs. Beecroft will pay a flying trip to the Cascades.

AMUSEMENTS.

EIGHTY DAYS AROUND THE WORLD.—The attendance at New Market Theater last evening was even larger than on the previous night. Certain defects observable in the first performance were obviated and the company were greatly improved. The stars it would be difficult to select from the party who comprise the leading characters, as each shines brightly at times, eliciting for himself round after round of applause. H. M. Brown's versatility was worthy of note. His acting of the Chinaman and the negro are very good and certainly gave the greatest satisfaction. Herne, Bert and Maguire each fill their parts most acceptably. The ladies, who are charming to say the least, have comparatively nothing to do, but no play is complete without them. In the last act Herne creates a deal of merriment in the love scene. "Eighty Days" is up for the entire week and will be certain to draw for that period. Next week a new sensation—"The Overland Route."

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Last night the auditorium of the Congregational Church was crowded to repletion on the occasion of an entertainment, given for the benefit of the Plymouth Chapel, in which several well known amateurs participated, with credit to themselves and the society. First came a quartet, then a reading, followed by a piano solo by Prof. Stebinger. These creditable exercises over, next came a reading, "Curfew," by Mrs. D. F. Smith, and the lady displayed her elocutionary powers to good advantage, and held the interest of her hearers during the delivery. Mesdames Cruzan and Dolph sang a very pretty duet, "Alpine Morning," with beautiful harmony and effect. Mr. C. H. Marvin read in a clear voice "The Miracle of the Roses," and a quartet rendered a composition entitled "The Sea bath its Pearls," with energy, displaying considerable musical ability. About the best thing of the evening was a reading, "The Irishwoman's Letter" by Mrs. C. A. Dolph, which so pleased and captivated the audience as to cause a recall, to which the lady responded with another equally felicitous presentation. A cornet solo by Mr. Harris showed the performer to be a skillful musician, and the effort was very creditable. A scene from Macbeth, pretty effectually rendered, with such appurtenances as a church stage usually affords, indicate rare talents, as displayed by the personæ, Mrs. D. F. Smith and Mr. Henderson. A quintet, "Good Night," by Mesdames Cruzan, Dolph and Abbott, and Messrs. Struble and Franklin, closed a very entertaining and successful concert. Much credit is due Mr. C. H. Marvin and his co laborers for their efforts in arranging this concert, and all who were concerned may consistently feel a large measure of congratulation.

THE IDAHO INDIAN WAR.

Latest Intelligence.

Movements of Troops.

Orders from San Francisco and Washington.

Persons who have had much experience with Indian characters, and especially those tribes inhabiting the region of country in which the present difficulty is located, are at a loss to account for the outbreak. At this season of the year the Indians are usually engaged in digging camas and laying in a supply of food for the winter. Indians seldom or never go to war with a limited stock of muck-a-muck, and at this time their stock is quite limited. They invariably send the clutchmen away to some place of security before inaugurating hostilities. From reports received from the seat of war, it appears that the Indians who had participated in the massacre, had the women along with them. Old Indian fighters say that this is evidence that the Indians had not premeditated an outbreak, and could have had no well matured plan of action. We have heard several express the opinion that the trouble must have been precipitated. It probably began in a drunken row between individuals and mutual retaliation involved the whole tribe.

Should all the disaffected tribes of Indians, including the non-treaty Nez Perces, Cœur d'Alene, Palouse, Spokane, Flathead and other scattered bands, join White Bird and Chief Joseph's warriors in common cause against the whites, it is estimated that at least 2,000 braves can be mustered into the campaign. If this should result, a protracted and sanguinary Indian war would inevitably follow.

The steamer California is expected to arrive here from Sitka to-night about 12 o'clock. She will have on board about 75 men. These soldiers will be transferred to the steamer Oneonta to-morrow morning to connect with the steamer Almota at Celilo which is now under waiting orders. The latter steamer will leave for Lewiston, Idaho Territory, Thursday evening immediately on the arrival of the train from The Dalles.

A party of soldiers, numbering 28, from Fort Townsend will arrive here this evening by way of Kalama. They will also embark on the Oneonta bound for the seat of the Indian war.

Yesterday morning a courier was dispatched from The Dalles for Fort Harney. He was instructed to ride day and night until he reached that post. His instructions from the department commander were to order all available troops at that post to proceed immediately to Fort Lapwai.

Last evening at 5:30 o'clock Mr. S. G. Reed received the following dispatch:

A young man just arrived here from Montana, where he had been with a band of cattle, says that he was detained two days and a half by the Indians in the Cœur d'Alene Mountains and then made his escape. He reports the mountains full of Indians who are working down this way. The excitement increases and a number of volunteers start for the upper country this evening. Two companies of cavalry left about noon for Lapwai. Excitement runs high, and the people on the other side of Snake river are without any assistance and are making for the garrisons.

H. D. Sanborn, Esq., went to Salem yesterday to see Gov. Chadwick in relation to procuring arms, amunition, etc. The governor informed him that he could do nothing outside of the State as he had no jurisdiction, but he expressed a willingness to do everything in his power to afford protection to life and property. He ordered 60 muskets and 3,000 rounds of ammunition, belonging to the State to be delivered to the custody of Mr. Sanborn. These will be forwarded at once to Lewiston to protect the lives of the people of that place, it being understood, of course that the citizens of the town are responsible for the safe return of the arms to the State. Gov. Chadwick also telegraphed to the Dalles to ascertain if there were any arms at that place belonging to the State. So Mr. Sanborn will procure all the available arms in this city and hopes to swell the total number of muskets to 100. Last evening Mr. Sanborn received the following dispatch:

SALEM, June 19, 1877.

To H. D. Sanborn, Esq., Portland: Several companies have offered services for Idaho, and should Gen. Howard need them for the Government, I will notify the companies of the fact.

S. F. CHADWICK, Gov.

The following correspondence will require no explanation:

PORTLAND, June 19, 1877.

To Gov. S. F. Chadwick, Salem—SIR: My Company is at your service for the campaign now open in Oregon and Idaho. CAPT. H. COOKE, Commanding Co. A, O. S. M.

SALEM, June 19, 1877.

To Capt H. Cooke, Co. A, O. S. M.: Hostilities not in Oregon. I have no authority to send troops out of the State. Should Gen. Howard request the services of your Company, permission will be given you to go. Thanks for your patriotic offer.

S. F. CHADWICK, Governor.

The following came from Celilo at 9 o'clock last evening:

There have been about 10 strange Indians around here to-day. They held a pow wow with Tumwater Indians across the river. One of them said about 40 of the Simcoe and Yakima Indians had left the Simcoe reservation and gone to join Joseph. Old Scamiah, the Indian chief whom Father Wilbur recently took to Vancouver from here was liberated and returned. He has disappeared since yesterday morning with about 20 of his Indians, and is supposed to have gone to join Joseph also.

A Washington dispatch, dated yesterday, (Tuesday) says:

General Sherman had received from General McDowell at San Francisco the following dispatch from General Howard at Fort Lapwai, 16th instant: "Indians began by murdering a white man in revenge for a murder by him, killing three others at the same time. They have since begun war upon the people near Mount Idaho. Captain Perry started with two companies for there. Other troops are being brought forward as fast as possible. Give me authority for twenty-five Indian scouts. I think we shall make short work of it."

General McDowell adds:

"I had already informed Howard of your decision that the Division has all the Indian scouts that can be allowed."

From San Francisco yesterday, 19th, we have the following dispatches:

At Headquarters of the Division of the Pacific in this city arrangements are being rapidly effected for concentration of troops at the scene of the Indian outbreak in Idaho. Miller's company from Fort Stevens and Miles' from Fort Vancouver are now at Celilo, en route to Lewiston. Rodney's company is now ordered from Fort Canby; Burton's company at Fort Townsend is under orders; and three companies of artillery just arrived at Fort Townsend from Sitka are also ordered to the scene of hostilities. Four companies of cavalry in the Department of California are placed under orders of General Howard. Of these companies that of Captain Sumner, now at the Presidio, will go via Redding; company I from Camp Halleck will go via Winnemucca. Company A, First Cavalry, at Fort McDermit, will proceed to Howard's headquarters direct. In military circles the outbreak is considered serious. The Indians are brave and warlike and well supplied with arms. The total strength at the disposal of General Howard when all the troops placed under his orders are concentrated will only reach about 800, while the strength of the Indians is estimated by some to be 2,000, though probably more reliable estimates will reduce the number of Indians to about half that number, or at most 1,500.

Dr. Sasserath.

We take pleasure in announcing that Dr. Sasserath, whose wonderful skill in adapting glasses to the eyes of persons suffering from defective vision has so largely been availed of by our citizens and of the vicinity, will be in the city Thursday evening next, when he will positively go to Salem on his way overland. He can be found at the St. Charles Hotel, where he can be consulted from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., Room No. 1.

Ladies, if you want a nice cashmere dress go to the Emporium of Fashion of J. Harris & Son.

Reduction in sewing machines. The Singer Manufacturing Company have this day announced a large reduction in prices, as will be seen by referring to our advertising columns. They now offer the new family machine at $50. This places the sewing machine within the reach of all, and we predict that their sales under the new price will be largely increased. They have agents in nearly every county in Oregon and Washington Territory, and still are starting new agents. Portland office, cor. First and Yamhill streets.

CORN REMEDY.

Dr. Halpruner's Patent Salve, for the cure of CORNS, BUNIONS, &c., is for sale by all druggists.

TO THE LADIES.

MRS. ACH,

CITY OF PARIS!

Announces that she has secured the services of a FIRST CLASS DRESS & CLOAK MAKER from San Francisco, and is now ready to receive orders.

CUTTING AND FITTING done at short notice

FIRE AT SALEM.

The Statesman of Tuesday furnishes the following:

Last night, about 10 o'clock, the fire bell rang out suddenly and sharply, arousing from the almost midnight slumber the citizens of our city. It was soon known that the Pelton machine shops were on fire. Hundreds rushed to the spot. All the fire companies were on hand, but too late to be of any service, inasmuch as the fire had already done its work so effectually that any attempt to put it out was useless.

The loss will fall heavily on the company. Their interests are those of Salem; and another industry is crushed, for the season at least.

Our citizens who have the means should rally at once in aid of rebuilding and aiding otherwise this "home industry" in again getting under way. We have no means of estimating the loss, but it is undoubtedly heavy. Quite a number of unfinished machines were saved.

The fire is supposed to have caught from the engine, although the fire for making steam was put out about 6 o'clock. Firemen and citizens did everything possible to save property. Some other buildings were endangered, but by the exertions of the firemen were saved.

BRIEF NOTES.

Straw hats, particularly brown, are universally worn.

Agent King and Assistant Bancroft at the eastside depot are accommodating. These gentlemen have been stationed at this place over four years.

Charley Speck is suffering from the effects of poison oak which he contracted through coming in contact with the noxious weed while in the woods last Saturday.

A Medicine of Many Uses.

A medicine which remedies dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, debility, intermittent and remittent fevers, urinary and uterine troubles, depurates the blood, counteracts a tendency to rheumatism and gout, and relieves nervousness, may be truly said to have many uses. Such an article is Hostetter's Bitters one of the most reliable alteratives of a disorderly to a well ordered state of the system ever prepared or sold. It has been over a quarter of a century before the public, is indorsed by many eminent professors of the healing art, and its merits have received repeated recognitions in the columns of leading American and foreign journals. It is highly esteemed in every part of this country, and is extensively used in South America, Mexico, the British possessions and the West Indies. If its increase in public favor in the past is to be regarded as a reliable criterion of its gain in popularity in coming years, it has indeed a splendid future before it.

The American People.

No people in the world suffer as much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heart-burn, Water-brash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, &c., yet since the introduction of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. 30,000 dozen sold last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular Size 75 cents. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

SANFORD'S

RADICAL CURE

For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of plants, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every fibrous contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short year it has found its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread the good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

MEDICAL LETTER

From a Distinguished Physician.

NO single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind, one or more and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood by physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won my hearty approval. I believe it likely to succeed when all the usual remedies fail, because it strikes at the root of the disease, viz: the acidified blood, while it heals the ulcerated membrane by direct application to the nasal passages. Its action is based on certain fixed rules, and unless the vital forces are too far exhausted, must, in the great majority of cases, effect a cure. GEO. BEARD, M. D.

Nobscott Block, So. Framingham, Oct. 1, 1874

CATARRH

And Deafness Cured

Gentlemen—My wife has been troubled with Catarrh for years, and has tried three other remedies without any benefit. She has also been partially deaf in one ear over twelve years. Since she has been using SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE her troubles have been growing rapidly better. At times she can hear as well as ever, and I am confident that a persistent use of the remedy will result in a permanent restoration of her hearing. There are several others here who are using the RADICAL CURE successfully, and I anticipate for it a large sale as a consequence of the never failing relief and cure afforded by its use. Respectfully yours,

A. W. DAVIDSON.

Hardwick, Vt., March 12

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES!

DR. M. S. SASSARETH.

THIS VERY DISTINGUISHED FRENCH OCULIST, (of over 25 years experience), arrived here on the steamer City of Chester, and is now stopping at Room No. 1, St. Charles Hotel, where he will remain until the 21st of June. His office hours are from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Consultation free.

One of the leading papers of Indiana says of Dr. Sassareth: "He is without doubt a very scientific man, who has thoroughly studied the eye, and fully understands all the diseases and defects to which it is subject. He treats these, removes all obstructions, and performs the most difficult operations when necessary, but the best remedy he furnishes for the defective eyesight is the most perfect glasses we ever saw. Looking through a pair of his glasses is like having a pair of new eyes. The pleasure and satisfaction can only be realized by actual trial. These glasses are made upon the most scientific principle, and therefore are not only just what is needed, but so perfect that the person using them is scarcely aware that any glasses are before his eyes. Dr. S. has treated most successfully a number of our leading citizens, and we notice that he is patronized by the best informed people wherever he goes."

Dr. Glick, an eminent physician, writes as follows to Dr. Sassareth: "Having enjoyed the use of your eye glasses, as adapted to my eyes by you in person, I feel that I would be derelict in my duty to those similarly afflicted as I am, if I did not make this acknowledgement of gratitude to you. My glasses, both for reading and walking, give me entire satisfaction."

Says the Delphi (Indiana) Journal: "We are exceedingly cautious in recommending traveling physicians, yet when we find one whose talents and skill are endorsed by the best medical men in the State, we feel that we run no risk in presenting him in the most favorable light. We have just met one whom we can certainly endorse. We allude to Dr. Sassareth, an eminent French Oculist, who is very highly recommended by Dr. Fitch of Logansport, Drs. Glick, O'Farrel and other physicians of Lafayette, and scores of the best citizens of both places."

The South Bend Register speaks thus of the great skill of Dr. Sassareth: "He is a very scientific oculist and thoroughly understands the delicate organism of the eye. * * * He has treated with the most gratifying results a number of our leading citizens, including ex Vice President Colfax."

A. P. Palmer, a prominent member of the City Bank of Albany, New York, says: "I take great pleasure in referring to the time about five years ago, when you furnished me with the first eye glasses I ever had occasion to use, and to bear testimony to the correctness of your judgment in the selection of those so admirably adapted to my sight."

DR. SASSARETH expects to remain only about a fortnight in Portland. His time is limited, and those who wish to consult him should call early. He can be seen every day between 10 o'clock A.M. and 5 P. M.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1877.

THE SILVER SPRINGS OF WASCO CO.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I notice an article in the Mining-Emigration Journal of Tuesday, denouncing the management of the Bonanza Mining Company, and affirming that "there is no merit whatever in the so-called silver springs." The editor of that paper asserts that he has had specimens of the mud assayed that were reported to contain from $4 to $800 to the ton, and that "not a trace of any thing valuable could be discovered." Here, then, is an issue between the Bonanza Company and the Mining Emigration Journal, and it is simply a question of veracity between the two. Allow me a few words on the part of the former. I shall not bandy epithets, nor descend to the use of uncourteous language, but simply state what I conceive to be the facts. Having no purposes to subserve but those of truth and honesty, no subterfuge is called for. I presume the company and management are actuated by fair and candid motives, whatever other parties may think. Becoming impressed with the fact that silver had been found in the mud in question, the company engaged the services of an assayer of known ability and integrity to proceed to the spot and investigate the matter thoroughly. This gentleman, Mr. Hurley, has been there now over five months, and has made over two hundred assays with a result entirely satisfactory. Silver has undoubtedly been found in paying quantities. I have also visited the springs myself and am satisfied the prospect is a good one. I have purchased stock in the enterprise and intend to hold to it. With regard to the assays, the editor of the Journal says were made of the mud without finding anything of value, I presume he refers to some assays of the kind that I had heard of. In these the same deposits was re-examined, for further satisfaction, by Mr. Fisk and Mr. Henrichsen, and silver found in all of them. In regard to the statement in the Journal that no quartz ledges have been found in the locality in question, and that all the quartz found there is of the character known as float quartz, I feel bound to say that this statement is unsustained by fact. Work is now being done by many parties up there on quartz ledges. This thing is notorious, and it is unnecessary to give names. Moreover, when I was up there I found several quartz ledges, some of which I thought gave indications of gold and silver, and which I therefore located according to law. Mr. Henley writes that over 200 mineral lodes have been discovered, many of which have been located. On this head it may be as well to give one of Mr. Hurley's letters entire, which is as follows:

SILVER SPRINGS, May 19, 1877.

DR. J. A. CHAPMAN—Dear Sir: Since I wrote to you last I have been out to examine the new quartz lode (the Monarch). I have a claim on the lode fifteen hundred feet by six hundred. I was assaying for the parties with the understanding that I was to have a claim if they discovered anything. There are marses of quartz on the line of the lead which would weigh over five tons. They are sinking on Cattwright's claim; the rock assays on an average forty dollars to the ton—thirty gold and ten silver. I traced it to the springs. It crosses Cambie's claim, also the Bonanza Co's, and through to Sheep mountain. I first discovered it on Cambie's claim where he got his best prospect. I expect this will run more into silver as they go down. It has been very cold lately, colder weather than we have had all winter. I will write again in a few days. Yours, respectfully,

RICHARD HURLEY.

The conduct on the part of the editors of the Mining and Emigration Journal is, to say the least, rather extraordinary. I shall not speak of it as I think it deserves, lest I might express myself too strongly. What "private griefs he has I know not," but presume there must be something beyond the mere facts of the case to call forth such unfounded statements.

In addition to the above I will state that I have spoken with Dr. Harvey, a gentleman known to be tolerably well posted on the subject of mineralogy and geology, and who has no pecuniary interest whatever in the matter. He says he has examined many of the specimens of mud from these springs and found silver in them; in others he has not been so successful. So Mr. Hanks, an eminent mineralogist of San Francisco, declares that he has found silver in them in a form that showed that it could not have been placed there fraudulently. It is possible that some fraud may have been perpetrated; it is impossible to guard against them altogether, but that most of these assays have been made on authentic materials there can be no doubt. Many persons who have brought down the mud are above suspicion, and the numerous assays that have been made on the spot by Mr. Hurley place the matter beyond a doubt. Let it be thoroughly tested; this is all that is asked by the friends of the enterprise, and no honest man or good citizen will be disposed to discourage it or cast uncalled for prejudices or obstacles in the way of it.

DR. J. A. CHAPMAN.

WHAT EASTERN PAPERS SAY.

Denver News: The country is not mourning to any alarming extent over the sad fate of Mr. Tilden, and any attempt to martyrize that monumental mummy must result in a miserable and ridiculous failure.

Cincinnati Enquirer: The Ohio Republicans will meet to declare on the 1st of August. The Ohio Democrats will gather themselves together on the 25th of July, and leave the Republicans neither the silver dollar nor the greenbacks.

New York Tribune: Senator Lamar missed one of the greatest opportunities of his life when he resolved to hold his peace about the Kemper county murders. It was a chance for the Senator with the Roman name to display some Roman attributes.

Burlington Hawkeye: Whatever may be thought of the ultimate results of the well-meant pacification policy of President Hayes, the indications now are that any concessions to the Southern Democracy will meet the same appreciation as pearls thrown before swine.

New York Times: When the decisive steps had been taken, and two States which had given Republican majorities were handed over to the Democracy, self-respect required the declaration that what was called a policy of conciliation was in fact a surrender whose consequences time will develop.

Memphis Appeal: There can be no peace in this land so long as the Republican party has a formidable organized existence. Its influence must be utterly annihilated, and this is not the work of a day or a year. It is a work which will tax all the resources of American statesmanship to accomplish.

New York Tribune: If the copper cent of our grandmothers were as cheap in proportion as the silver dollar of our fathers, there would be heard loud calls for its remonetization from statesmen who own copper mines and from frugal patriots who are enamored of any scheme that will enable them to discharge an obligation of $500 with $450 worth of circulating medium.

New Orleans Times: The South has 92 Democratic members of Congress. They can name the Speaker if they want to. There is no occasion for any mealy-mouthedness about this matter. The Southern Democrats are in the majority, and they have it in their power to control the organization of the next House. This section of the country expects something more from them than mere windy oratory.

THE TERRITORIES.

A writer in a Walla Walla paper estimates that in Whitman county there are 8,000 claims of 320 acres each.

Emigrants with their teams from Corinne, Utah, destined for the Palouse country, continue to arrive at Walla Walla. They make the trip in about 35 days.

Walla Walla Watchman: "Why should we export dirt and wool mixed, when we might as well wash it here as in Boston. No one would think of cutting his grain and having it threshed in Liverpool." Good sense.

Between Snake river and Touchet there is a level tract of land fifteen miles long by four wide, which is to be reclaimed under the desert land act. There is no water within less than six miles. A ditch will be made which will cover the whole tract.

Speaking of the Northern Pacific land grant the Walla Walla Statesman says: In the interest of the settlers the $2 50 an acre proviso should be incorporated in the bill, and with this restriction we believe public opinion will acquiesce in a renewal of the land grant.

A man named Morrissey stabbed another named Andrew at Seattle on Sunday night. He held the knife firmly in the wound and endeavored to force it into the vitals, but was prevented by its contact with a rib. The wound is very serious, and may be fatal.

A large tree fell across one of Hallet's camp buildings, near the coal mines a few days ago, creating sad havoc among the table fixtures. The accident occurred a little before dinner time, while the men were at work. Had it happened during the dinner hour, probably twenty-five men would have been killed or wounded.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and palatory gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly, JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]

PAUL M. BRENAN.

Dr. Brenan can be consulted, free of charge, at his office at the Clarendon Hotel, from 10 to 12 A. M., and at rooms 6 and 7 in Corbett's Block, corner of Front and Washington streets, Portland, Oregon, from 1.30 to 5, and 7 to 8 P. M.

PRATT'S MINERAL COLZA OIL.

300° FIRE TEST.

Chas. Pratt & Co., New York,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers.

To Consumers of High Fire-Test Mineral Oils.

YOUR ATTENTION IS PARTICULARLY INvited to our 300° Fire-Test Oil, called "Pratt's Mineral Colza," which we are now manufacturing expressly for STEAMSHIP, RAILROAD and MILL ILLUMINATION, or for use where an exceedingly high Fire-Test Oil is required. It has already been adopted by many of the Railroads throughout the country, and by most of the coastwise steamers sailing from New York, whose continuance of its use in preference to all similar Oils, is sufficient commendation as to its quality. It will not burn well in the ordinary Petroleum Lamp. It being of too heavy gravity for such use; but in the German Student Lamp and those with double wick burners, we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction producing a pure flame of great brilliancy. Our facilities for manufacturing are excellent, and equal to any demand, while the price is much lower than that of any oil in the market of the same character and fire test. The U. S. law in regard to the use of these Oils on passenger steamers is very explicit, as follows:

"Any Oil which will stand a Fire Test of Three Hundred (300°) Degrees Fahrenheit, may be carried as freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers."

We beg to offer the following Certificates, which have been handed us from the very best authorities obtainable, in regard to the test of the Mineral Colza Oil, and they may be considered perfectly reliable:

Report of Prof. S. Dana Hayes, Massachusetts State Assayer.

[COPY.] BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 19th, 1876.

A sample of burning Oil, marked Mineral Colza, manufactured by CHARLES PRATT & Co., of New York City, has been tested by me with the following result: It has a Fire Test of 328° Fahrenheit. It does not ignite under 328° F.

(Signed) S. DANA HAYES,
Massachusetts State Assayer.

Report of Inspector of Petroleum Oil, for State of Massachusetts.

[COPY.] BOSTON, October 4th 1876.

I have tested samples of Mineral Colza Oil, from CHARLES PRATT & Co., New York City, and find the igniting point or Fire Test to be 315° Fahrenheit. (Signed) R. F. MEANS, Mass. State Inspector of Petroleum.

Report on Sample of Mineral Colza Oil, Tested for U. S. Inspector of Steamers 2d District.

[COPY.] NEW YORK, April 25th, 1876.

Mr. ADDISON LOW, U. S. Sub. Inspector.

DEAR SIR: We have tested the sample of Mineral Colza Oil presented by you and find it stands a Fire Test of 300° Fahrenheit, and we consider it in all respects a very superior Oil.

(Signed) LOCKWOOD, BROS & HOLLY,
Petroleum Inspectors appointed by N. Y. City Produce Exchange.

To the Trade.

The undersigned beg to call your attention to all of the above, and thus advise you that they will at all times have a full supply of the above mentioned goods on hand, and would be pleased to have your orders.

GENERAL NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

The Hilton-Seligman Embroglio.

New York, June 20.—The controversy between Seligman and Hilton has given rise to much discussion and comment. The Herald this morning prints eight columns of correspondence and interviews with prominent hotel keepers throughout the country, particularly at watering places. The general opinion taken is decidedly opposed to Judge Hilton, although there are a few ... in this city where the Jewish custom ... is discouraged on grounds ... stated by Hilton. Seligman's attorney ... in a letter to the Times that one hundred ... withdrawn ... day from the house of A. T. Stewart ... the loss ... is likely to be to the ... 000 to $5,000,000 a year.

Letter from Seligman.

New York, June 19.—The following is the full text of Seligman's letter to Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co., New York:

Dear Judge—My family have for many years patronized the Union Hotel at Saratoga ... from headquarters are to exclude all ... families from the list of guests ... a reason that there existed a prejudice ... Americans against people of ... which had injured the Union to that ... season that headquarters proposed to ... out, viz., to tell them all without exception ... the rooms except the garret ... Now permit me, dear ... interests and the interest of Stewart's estate, the lion's share of which you ... acquired, to say that you are adding to ... serious mistakes you have committed ... herited that estate by refusing admittance ... Union Hotel to a large class of people ... of their respectability, wealth and ... merely to pander to a vulgar prejudice ... mistaken notion that by so doing you ... house with other nationalities. You ... yourself mistaken. You are no judge of ... character. The civilized world is ... more tolerant in matters of faith ... of birth than you ... have them believe. They despise ... low cunning and vulgarity, and will not ... him who seeks to make money by pandering ... the prejudices of the vulgar. I regret you ... ning the Union ... I regret that ... making ... wholesale dep ... in New York and Chicago, and that even ... best patrons. A little reflection must show ... the grievous falling off in your business ... patronage, not due to any national ... patronage of all, and that you ... big enough to keep a hotel or ... your business views to run a dry goods ... have third competition with ... other houses in the manufacture of ... silks and scores of articles of ... never will. I respectfully volunteer the ... which I charge you nothing, whatever ... charged once $10,000 for advice ... nothing that ... once valuable estate of Stewart, you ... large auction ... hotels to the highest bidder ... sacrifice your ... other than by ... avail yourself of this friendly and disinterested advice, I remain, dear Judge, yours ...
